77. Killed in Action

Joseph W. DILLEY First Benzie Co. Man To Meet Death In Battle A message Wednesday announces the death in action in France of Joseph W. Dilley. He was better known as Will and previous to leaving with the first select draft contingent worked at the chemical plant at Cartar. A father, Cornelius Dilley and brother Claude live near Turtle lake. Claude expected to go with the next contingent. Will was an expert rifle shot and when Claude received the news of his brothers death, he remarked" Well, I'll bet he fog some Huns before they got him and when I get over there I'll get enough of them to make up" Although there had been other deaths in camp from disease, this is the first Benzie man to die in action. It's supposed he died in France. This is bringing the war close to home.

I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul. He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil: my cup runneth over:

He restoreth my soul. He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for his name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me: thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies: thou anointest my head with oil: my cup runneth over:
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.

orward Toledo Campaign to Be Started at Breakfast Meeting.

The Forward Toledo breakst, to be held at 7:30 A. M. ursday, will formally open Forward Toledo campaign the Chamber of Commerce, that time 600 members of campaign organization l assemble in the auditium of the chamber for al instructions before takthe field.

he task is the raising of $165,000 ually for three years to finance ervices of the Chamber of Comce in its Forward Toledo prom. These funds will be raised memberships and in subscripns to the sustaining fund.

aniel H. Kelly, general campaign irman, has divided the solicitainto two groups. The sustainfund committee, under the chairship of Adam R. Kuhlman, is at calling on firms and individs for subscriptions to the fund ch will be used for promotional vities. The general sales army, Harold Anderson as colonel of ns, will solicit memberships.

The men in the sales army know the vital services which the mber of Commerce is perform-" Mr. Anderson said. "They are ued with the spirit of the Ford movement and I am certain they will go out and sell it to general public. However, I do think that should be much of s work that it is one of the prime ctors in the progress of the city. "It is quite clear that the expanon of business may come in only ree ways: first, by multiplying the umber of people who buy in a certain market; second, by increasing the wants of the same number of people; or, third, by a combination of the two foregoing conditions. It is a certainty that if we expect to increase the general well being of Toledo business, we must support the organization which devotes its entire time to that purpose. I am highly optimistic about the final result of the campaign."

The first report of the general sales army will be made Friday noon, June 6. The final report is scheduled for Thursday, June 12.

SOLVING THE SECRETS OF THE DRAW BRIDGE

There are toots, and then again, there are toot, toot, toots, Dixie Tighe, Blade special writer, learned Monday afternoon in a clamber over the lower Terminal bridge over the Maumee river. At the upper right, A. M. Dilley, 429 Pontiac street, bridge operator, is explaining the toots, controls, motors and other intricacies of the bridge to Miss Tighe, while at the left is shown the view which greeted the writer from the bridge control room. Below is shown Miss Tighe climbing up the stairway leading to the bridge tower which is 55 feet above the river.

"Toot-Toot," and Mystery of the Bridge Is Solved

Blade Special Writer Investigates Lower Terminal Span and Learns Secrets of Boat Whistles and Draw.

(Editor's Note: This is one of a series of stories written by Dixie Tighe, special feature writer for the Blade, who is in Toledo for a two-weeks' stay.

BY DIXIE TIGHE

WHEN a boat toots a hoarse blast three times, it means it would like the bridge to get out of its way. And, when the bridge toots back a single blast, it means, "Come ahead." But, if the bridge means out three toots, the boat is out of luck.

Curious about these bridges that swing themselves around so serenely whenever a boat bears down on its whistle, we went exploring the heights and the depths of the lower Terminal bridge, North Toledo, Monday.

"Why does a bridge draw," was the question.

Why, we wondered, can a little boat toot three times and have a mammoth construction swing about in obeisance. Elephants don't sidestep ants.

The lower Terminal bridge over the Maumee river is not exactly close to the shore. In order to get to the bridge house it is necessary to walk a long half mile over tracks that are built on a trestle plan, with little spaces that vary in width, depending on your personal optical illusion.

A TWO-TRACK bridge is not the place to send the children for a walk. Trains are quite likely to come along and two tracks take on the appearance of zero width when a train is chugging along in your footsteps.

Look through the cracks of the tracks—if you are not subject to those dizzy spells—and you'll see the water churning against the piling. Look above and see the intricate pattern of the bridge—look to the sides and see the towering tops of industrial plants.

On—on—passing workmen who smile at an amateur's endeavors at walking nonchalantly over the tracks.

"It's troublesome walking, Miss," one of them remarked.

"Troublesome," however, was a little mild to be graphic.

"Here we are," exclaimed the bridge guide, who pointed to a flight of stairs, which, of course, was on the other side from where we were walking. Having previously been told by the office wit that the bridge house was reached by a narrow ladder over the water, the steps were reassuring.

THE steps are built out over the water—water that is only 27 feet deep, one man pointed out. But, remembering people have drowned in bathtubs, this news was not particularly valuable.

A mechanical world is sheltered in the glassed-in house at the flight of steps. But, considering the enormity of the operations, the apparatus seems small. A peculiarly shaped motor in the center of the room, a wall of electrical apparatus, a light control and a compact engine-effect with three handles to move the bridge.

Accurately, only one is to swing the bridge. The other two have to do with wedges which doubtless are close kin to winches. And that about takes care of the machinery on the tip-top of the bridge.

"Toot-toot-toot—"

"She's calling for the bridge," explained A. M. Dilley, 429 Pontiac street, who knows about bridges.

He operates this lower Terminal bridge.

And, right before your very eyes, ladies and gentlemen, you see the bridge, with no effort or noise, swing apart and bow itself out of the way of the tug or whatever happens to want "by."

It is possible for this bridge to swing all the way around—which is very confusing to anyone not used to a bridge going into such antics.

For instance, we went up the building on the left side and after the bridge had revolved a bit we found ourselves traversed. However, the next time the bridge swung about, we found ourselves right side again.

The bridge makes on an average of 24 turns in 24 hours. Often it makes a great many more.

"I like it better when we are real busy," Mr. Dilley explains. "Once in a great while we have a little excitement, but it's never anything we can't handle all right."

MR. DILLEY can talk about the time when it was 18 below zero—he can explain, but not remember the times, when a "draw" bridge consisted of putting a bridge on pontoons and then floating it out of the way to permit a boat to pass.

The Terminal bridge, Mr. Dilley says, is the finest ever built and most modern that he ever has heard of.

This bridge not only can swing end to end, but it can keep in contact with all bridge traffic conditions while it is making this swing. Circuits are installed under the bridge. These lead to direct connection with the phone in the bridge house.

In order that trains may not start across the bridge and land in the middle of the river by surprise, a block signal has been worked out.

A RATHER informal ladder leads down under the bridge at the water's level. It is here that the works of the bridge may best be seen and where men go into great exclamation about what a "beautiful job" a bridge can be. And, it's where the less sturdy sex likes to remark on how much grease is necessary to a bridge operation and why all the broad jumps, please mister?

Watching the bridge from the steps is much like riding a merry go round in slow motion. The sights go by in a bewildering manner. A good sense of direction probably would help identify the smoke stacks, that unexpected clump of trees and where did the tall-high building come from?

"Right there," said the people who don't become confused in a circular inspection, "is the National Milling Co.—look, look—no, no, not there.—here—there's the Toledo Shipbuilding Co. and the Toledo Furnace Co."

"And those buildings' . . .

"The Second National Bank—and there's the new Ohio Bank"—and, before you could get a steady look at them, we sighted an ore machine or two, so black it was lost in the wooded background—and, there's a coal unloader.

The red roof of the Toledo Yacht club peeked over the tops of the trees—and,

"Toot—toot—toot"—this time a train was pulling under the bridge house and,

"Toot—toot—toot"—another boat was calling.

"Gangway."

Dear Helen,

This is my little surprise. I had a partial, very yellowed copy of this article and wrote to the Toledo Library Archives to see if I could get the whole article and this is what they sent me! I was thrilled. Hope you enjoy it as much as I did.

Had a note from Janet last week that Bill was back in ICU.

Hope things have calmed down for you a little and that all is well again. Will keep in touch.

Hello Helen,

Apologies for taking so long to get this response out to you regarding your email from several months ago. I sent 3 or 4 email replies shortly after receiving your note but feel they must have gone elsewhere and/or been lost.

For future reference my email is now terminalyuth@yahoo.com. This is different from the one you mailed to previously.

I had it mind to write to you some time ago but have much too much else to focus on aside from genealogical pursuits. I'm am now finding the time to devout some serious effort toward it.

You had mentioned Rachel Riemer as being as being William Lloyd Dilley's mother. I must believe you are correct in this. The name of Jacob Garrison can be found amongst my father's notes on the family but until now I hadn't been able to connect it to anyone. One more mystery has been solved. :-)

Have you looked into Rachel's Background yet? I have done some digging on the internet and would be curious to see if what I uncovered matches your discoveries. I have also obtained a copy of Jacob's obituary and hope to locate their burial site in Waterloo cemetery in the near future.

As far as the prospects for Adam Dilley go, I see some possibility there. He is listed, I believe, in the 1820 census as a resident of Luzerne County, PA with one woman also in his household. I'll put more time into pursuing him and see what develops.

Has there been any word of a family reunion for this summer? My parents sent me a copy of last year's invitation but I was unable to attend due to prior obligations. I hope to attend the next should my work schedule allow.

When you have a few moments please visit http://www.geocities.com/terminalyuth. I conceived of this project as a way of consolidating research efforts. I feel it would be nice to have our family genealogy centralized all in one place so that future seekers have access to all records available to date without having to scour the countryside using their resources to repeat discoveries that have already been made. I gladly welcome any and all comments on the site. I have been in touch with a couple of cousins regarding it but feedback has been minimal. I am particularly concerned about the proper protocol for displaying vital statistics of living relatives. While I feel that this information is a matter of public record and generally available to all, it is not my intention to compromise anyone's right to privacy either. Immediate family members have expressed no reservations regarding the material but they represent only a small minority. Your thoughts on the subject would be greatly appreciated. The information presented is what I have organized based solely upon my father's collection of notes, letters and a few select documents. I will be shopping for a scanner in the next couple of weeks and hope to begin adding photos (both past and present) and copies of available documents to the content shortly.

I hope this letter finds that all is well with you and yours. Looking forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Respectfully,

Reed Dilley

Subject: A tidbit

Good morning!

Only had a few moments to work on this today but did find one thing to pass along. Information taken from the 1920 census regarding the family group of Robert A. VanMETER and Rilla BROMLEY shows...

1) There was a son named Ira (age 12 at the time) prior to their daughter Mary. I don't have their 1910 census yet so would assume at this point that Ira is actually their firstborn, not Mary.

2) The youngest son, whose name is basically illegible in the 1930 census, shows much clear on the 1920 census page. His name was Charles W.

Their 1920 census listing can be found at Ancestry.com: Michigan, Ogemaw County, Logan Township, District 272, Image 9.

All for now.

Dear Helen,

Here are a few more pictures for you.

In the one of (Pa) Alva, is that his Mother sitting next to him or is it Nellies mother? On the back it says Nellies Mother but seems odd to me that he would have had his picture taken with future M-I-L back in those days. He looks really young there.

The Silhouettes I love, I have them in 5 x 7's and in oval old fashion frames. Beautiful.

In last picture I sent, was that Rob and Ray Blanche's boys?

Well enough for now ——→

See Sheet attached

When I went to Ohio and spoke to Janet just before I left (mid July) Bill was home. Chuck was taking him to the Dr periodically. He is still home as far as I know.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Ruthellen

Was that Uncle John and wife in picture I sent earlier?

I will be updating our sheets.

Alva & Nellie

Since starting this note to you, I saw this pic of Alva & Nellie. It is very possible that pic on right is Nellie's Mother, Mary. Appears to be the same setting/background etc. What do you think?

Please, if you have the original of this picture or a very good copy, Please send to me so I can copy or have remade & promise I will send it back in good order. That is a good one of my Grandparents

Death Claims E. J. Marshall

Veteran Lawyer Dies Following Collapse

Edwin J. Marshall, one of Toledo's and Ohio's most prominent corporation lawyers, died at 4 a. m. today in the family home, 5005 West Central Ave., after an illnes of two weeks. He was 72.

While Mr. Marshall had been in failing health for the last two years he refused to relinquish his work as senior member of the law firm of Marshall, Melhorn, Wall & Bloch until two weeks ago, when he collapsed and was taken to his home. He never rallied.

Few lawyers in Toledo's history attained such eminence both at the bar and in politics. Although he never held public office he has been regarded as one of the most powerful figures not only in local but state and national politics.

Mr. Marshall was born here June 28, 1873. He attended Toledo public and high schools and was graduated from Cornell University law school.

Mr. Marshall is survived by his wife and one son, John, who has just been released from the navy after two and a half years as a lieutenant.

Services will be held in the home Thursday at 2 p. m. Burial in Woodlawn Cemetery will be private.

"I have no intention whatever of ceasing to lead the Conservative Party until I am satisfied that they can see their way clear ahead and make a better arrangement, which I earnestly trust they may be able to do," the former war leader said in a statement broadcast over a worldwide hookup.

Large Crowd Present

Attired in the uniform of the Royal Yacht Squadron and smoking the inevitable cigar, Mr. Churchill stepped off the Cunard liner to face one of the largest batteries of press, radio and newsreel photographers and reporters ever assembled to meet a visiting dignitary.

When asked to comment on the

"I never criticize the Government of my country abroad. I very rarely leave off criticizing it at home."

Favors Palestine Group

Mr. Churchill said he favored a ... Anglo-American inquiry committee for Palestine.

"I am sure far greater results can be obtained through the efforts of both nations," he said.

He also spoke out in favor of the U. S., Britain and Canada keeping the secret of the atom bomb "until there have been arrangements made for the control of such a dread agency."

Monday 6-10-96

Dear Helen:

It's been ages since I've written you but a busy time here. We're all doing alright, my son Craig was married 3/2/96 after 2 years of widowhood. He married a lovely girl (lady?) who had been married & divorced — no children. She has given up her job to be a "stay at home Mom." Her children will be 10 — 12 & 14 this year so she has her hands full — Your records she is Paula Rosenkrantz (she had previously been married to a B. Cushman.) Date of birth 7-7-65.

My daughter is holding her own but will eventually need a kidney transplant & hopefully I'll be the donor. So far I test the best as donor but that can change at anytime as our antibodies change as we live.

She & her husband & daughter & I will be cruising to Bermuda Nov. 11-18, looking forward to a nice vacation.

Right now I have 3 painters here doing all 8 rooms & wallpapering 3 bathrooms, getting ready for the painter is a much work as painting. The enclosed pictures show you our new bride etc.) & my brother & sister. How are you folks? I hope they are doing okay. I'm sure you are enjoying your Grandchildren & having fun with them.

Keep in touch,

Love,

Anita

In Remembrance

God hath not promised——
Skies always blue,
Flower-strewn pathways
All our lives through;
God hath not promised
Sun without rain,
Joy without sorrow——,
Peace without pain.

But God hath promised
Strength for the days,
Rest for the labor,
Light for the way.
Grace for the trials——,
Help from above,
Unfailing sympathy
Undying love . . . .

In Memory

23rd Psalm

The Lord is my shepherd;
I shall not want.
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul:
He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness
For His name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley
Of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil:
For thou art with me;
Thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me
In the presence of mine enemies:
Thou annointest my head with oil;
My cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me
All the days of my life:
And I will dwell in the house of the LORD
Forever.

In Loving Memory of

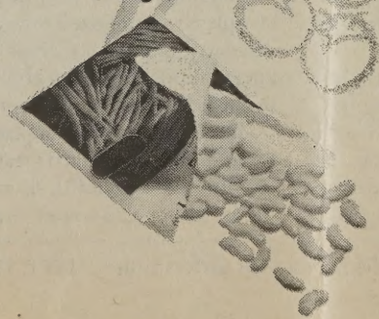
Bring the Garden To Your Table

Grow your own vegetables right in your yard and enjoy them with every meal.



(MS) - Growing a garden is a rewarding experience for someone looking to add color and wildlife to the landscape. However, growing a fruit and vegetable garden offers the same delight and more — a harvest of fresh produce you can enjoy with every meal.

There are few things more satisfying than nursing a seedling or young plant into maturity and being able to harvest what it grows. Everything seems more delicious when it's home-grown. Keep in mind that biting into that juicy tomato or grilling up that fresh-plucked zucchini is the last step in a successful garden. It takes a little more than tossing down seed and waiting for a bounty. There are steps to ensure success.

Plan Your Garden

While you may want your garden a stone's throw from the home for easy access, consider the conditions of the soil and the light that area gets before planting. A vegetable garden typically needs six or more hours of sunlight to thrive. So watch how the sun strikes areas of your landscape throughout the day and see what barriers to the sunlight (trees, houses) present themselves. Soil conditions include how well the soil will drain, soil quality and obstacles that show up while digging, including rocks or deep roots. Determine if soil quality can be amended with compost, peat moss and other nutrients.

While planning, consider the vegetables you'd like to have in your garden. It may be cost effective to start plants from seeds indoors and transplant to the outdoors at the right time of year. But some plants do not like transplanting and prefer to start and grow outside in the garden. A gardening center can help you determine the proper planting methods and dates.

While keeping in mind location, think about how you will fence in your garden to keep out unwanted pests. Also think about plant height and growth. You'll want taller plants in the back so that they do not end up shading the shorter plants from the sun.

Prep the Soil

The best soil for a successful garden is fertile and well-drained. Hard shale, rock ledges, gravel beds, deep sand, and other types can make gardening difficult to impossible. If this is all you have to work with, consider container gardening instead, where you can better control the soil condition. Most soil just needs a simple tune up with organic matter to make it hospitable for a vegetable garden.

Get Planting

If you are sowing seeds, create shallow grooves into which you will deposit the seeds. Cover the seeds with a fine soil and lightly water to set. The most important thing to remember concerning seeds is that they require adequate moisture to germinate. Keep seeds moist until they form strong seedlings.

When transplanting from vegetables you started indoors, or if planting items you bought at a garden center, dig a hole slightly larger than the root ball of the existing plant. Water the plants before removing them from their container to lessen the shock. Then tap the container to loosen and remove the plant. Separate tightly woven roots gently and place the plant in the hole. Cover with soil and water thoroughly.

Depending upon your choice of vegetables, you could enjoy fresh vegetables from May through October. Don't forget to include some herb plants in your garden so you'll have savory seasonings to add to your fresh vegetable recipes. ■

Featured Home Of The Week

Island Living On The Mainland

Get Away From It All Just An Hour From Toledo

Features

- 2 or 3 Bedrooms
- 2 Baths
- 2 Car Garage with Golf Cart Storage

You don't have to drive or fly thousands of miles to find a relaxing resort-type lifestyle. Just a one-hour drive from Toledo, you will find the jewel of the Great Lakes — Catawba Island. When you arrive on this peninsula, the sunglasses go on, your blood pressure goes down and all of your troubles float away. This is island living at its best, but on the mainland.

This week's featured home, The Canterbury, is located in Fairway Villas at Catawba Island Club. Just an hour from Toledo, it is the perfect place to get away for a weekend or for life. Fairway Villas is an Epcon Community, similar to Stone Gate Villas in Perrysburg. Like these, they are single-story ranch style condominiums, with little or no maintenance and unique architectural features.

A big difference here is the resort-style living. Catawba Island Club offers fine dining, casual dining, swimming, tennis, large marina, great sunsets, and now, an 18-hole Arthur Hills Golf Course. Fairway Villas is located across the street from the Catawba Island Club, and is surrounded by nine holes of the club's golf course. Golf and club memberships are optional. The original nine holes and Lake Erie are easily accessed by a tunnel under West Catawba Road — driving a golf cart on a busy road isn't necessary. The development is surrounded by ten acres of ponds. Of the 160 homes planned, more than 130 have been sold.

An award-winning community center onsite is home to a large gathering room for community or private parties. There are also a heated swimming pool, a fully-equipped exercise room, and a putting green.

Each villa is a part of an award-winning pinwheel design. You share only one common wall and are totally private — you'll never hear your neighbors. And each villa can be completely customized to your taste: your choice of custom cabinetry, granite or Corian countertops, stainless appliances, multiple flooring choices — ceramic, porcelain, wood, or carpet — and even a floor-to-ceiling stone fireplace!

Inside, a graceful floor plan welcomes visitors. The tiled entry leads into the vaulted great room, where a gas fireplace with tile surround and hearth sits next to a large palladium window. To the left is an all-season veranda, where large windows let in

Appraisal Draws Fire of Baertschi

County officials deliberately attempted to boost tax revenues, which they could not do by vote of the people, in the recent reappraisal of real estate, Walter Baertschi, president of Friends and Neighbors, said last night in a radio talk.

Mr. Baertschi said the expressed aim to rectify inequalities in the old valuations was a falsehood. He said that if Hale T. Shenefield, county auditor, is sincere in his expressed sympathy for taxpayers he would ask "overpaid county officials" to refund at least half of their salaries.

The costly reappraisal should have been avoided or done at a much lower cost, Mr. Baertschi said.

with no commitment to naturalistic dogma are sheepishly saying, "You know, it never did seem plausible, did it? That if you just allow enough time, the theory will work and it will eventually be verified by fossils."

Because they didn't find the bona fide "missing link," evolutionists modified Darwin's theory with the theory of "punctuated equilibrium" and now say the process of evolution occurred in rapid spurts, too fast to form fossilized proof. As for proof in geology, again, what proof?

In a very short time, the Mt. St. Helens disaster produced geologic results that evolutionists would normally attribute to millions of years of erosion, etc. As for various dating methods, they are not reliable back to the ages the evolutionists claim.

The absurdity of the theory never ceases to amaze the man with common sense who has no commitment to atheism, who doesn't worship at the shrine of the liberal educated elite who have created their own God, their own theology, and their own science.

An appropriate honor for Cook

I was sorry to hear of the death of our good friend Gene Cook. Gene has been a friend to many Toledoans over the years and it goes without saying that he was the quiet strength behind the Mud Hens baseball organization — through good times and bad.

I would like to suggest that Fifth Third Bank rename the new Mud Hens Stadium "Fifth Third Cook Field" in honor of Gene's unwavering commitment to both the Mud Hens and the city of Toledo. It would be an appropriate honor for Gene and good public relations for Fifth Third Bank.

AmeriCorps isn't 'laughable' program

I doubt if my 18-year-old daughter and her fellow AmeriCorps team members thought it was "laughable" when they made the commitment to serve for a year.

It's a full-time job. It is not glamorous. Its members' sole purpose is to help people. The majority of them would do it for the experience alone.

The fact that it's a government-initiated program is irrelevant to young people who want the opportunity to make a difference. If there were a private-sector equivalent of this organization out there, they would be joining it, too.

So, what is "laughable" here? That we're paying for "volunteers" when we can get them for free? These young people are not stealing jobs from volunteers. The world will never run out of those. Think of AmeriCorps members as grossly underpaid public servants. They are working, seven days a week, wherever they are needed, doing what needs to be done (what no one else wants to do), and doing it gladly.

There are so many "government" programs that are taken for granted. Will you cash that Social Security check when it arrives? Do you drive on federal highways? Use the postal service? Have you never vacationed in one of our national parks or enjoyed one of our national monuments? The point is, this is not an evil program. These are good people, doing good things.

AmeriCorps members receive a small living allowance (less than $20 a day) and upon fulfilling their commitment receive an education award of $4,725 (taxable). It's a win-win situation. Undoubtedly, it costs taxpayers more than that to house and feed a federal prisoner or a welfare recipient. The difference is, with an AmeriCorps member, you get something in return. What they earn is nothing compared with what they give back.

Free advertising for political candidates

To quote from The Blade's Feb. 18 editorial: "... obligatory free television time for candidates in the final 60 days before Election Day."

How about The Blade providing free advertising space during the same time for all candidates, including no editorials pro or con on the candidates? That ought to be a real campaign finance reform proposal and level the playing field for television and newspapers as well as the candidates.
